"Listen to the record, it's clear that these guys have something special going on. It's a perfect blend of Tennessee Three rhythm and sweet country crooning that's just a little rough around the edges. But maybe missing from the recordings, is the fact that these guys are one of the best live party bands I've heard in ages. Big German cowboy beating the shit out of the upright bass? Check. Mutant honky tonk guitar and suitcase drums? Check. A dead ringer for a young Bruce Springsteen with the pipes of Charley Feathers? You bet. Will they drink you out of house and home, dance with every lady in the house, and wear nothing but snow pants while they do it? You just never know what might happen when these guys come to town..."
